

PRESBYTERIAN MISSION.

Welcome to the New Minister in Charge. Last evening the friends of the Presbyterian mission chapel gathered in large numbers to welcome the minister in charge, Rev. James C. Hume.

The Philadelphia Inquirer has an account of Richard Rice, a colored man, who is now living at No. 420 Fothergill street, that city, at the ripe age of 106. He has never used glasses, and he can read, sew, thread a needle, and darn his own stockings.

The exercises were opened by the singing of several anthems by the choir of the Presbyterian church, after which Rev. J. Y. Mitchell addressed the audience stating that the subject of this meeting was to introduce and welcome Rev. J. C. Hume to this new field of labor.

Mr. Hume was then introduced and made an impressive, able, and earnest address. He felt deeply thankful for this hearty and kind reception, and entered upon his work with all the energy and zeal of his command.

After the address he gave out a hymn and the whole audience joined in the singing. The benediction was then pronounced after which the audience welcomed Mr. Hume by their hearty congratulations and kind words.

FIVE SPURIOUS COLLEGS.

Suppressed in Philadelphia After Giving Diplomas. Members of the Alleged Faculty Arrested—Three Thousand Spurious Diplomas Taken to the State House—Exposed by a Newspaper.

For twelve or fifteen years Philadelphia has been the seat of a number of medical colleges that hooded the country with spurious diplomas. The Legislature of Pennsylvania tried, in 1872, to suppress the institutions, but failed, and they have been run ever since on legally issued charters. The authorities declared themselves powerless to stop it. Six months ago the city editor of the Record, John Norris, called the attention of Attorney General Palmer to these concerns, and the grave necessity for their suppression. But the state had no evidence against them, and the attorney general had no money with which to proceed. Then the Record offered to advance the money to the Commonwealth upon promise of reimbursement by the state Legislature, and the work was begun. Yesterday it culminated in the arrest of six of the most prominent of the five spurious medical colleges, and the arrest of John Buchanan, dean of the American university at Philadelphia and the Eclectic medical college of Pennsylvania. He was also president of the National Eclectic medical association, which issued diplomas under the alias of James Murray, D. D., he acted as dean of a concern issuing diplomas as the Livingstone university of America. Two other of the faculty, Charles S. Tolk and John J. Scagins, were arrested. Six others of the faculty are still at large, apparently out of the reach of the police.

The Record publishes a full expose. Its city editor has prepared evidence which it is alleged will show the sales of forty-two diplomas to various persons. He gives the names of the students who were given diplomas were offered, and the names of eleven agents who were acting for Buchanan. The Record man himself set the trap which resulted in Buchanan's arrest. For $75 he obtained three medical diplomas from the Eclectic college of Philadelphia, a regularly chartered institution, one from the American University of Philadelphia, in English, and another from the National Eclectic medical association. One feature of the proceeding is that while the national convention was organized in 1879, its diploma to the newspaper man, is dated 1878. All purported to show that the newspaper man under the name of Dr. John Panning of Tippecanoe City, Ohio, studied medicine at the Eclectic college, and also passed a satisfactory examination in each of the seven branches of medicine. Not satisfied with this evidence he sent letters under the name of Dr. Geo. A. Dawson, apparently belonging to Chester County, Pa., asking for degrees. For $150 he obtained five degrees, two of doctor of medicine, one doctor of divinity, one doctor of laws, and one doctor of civil law. The final letter in this transaction passed through the mail. Dr. Buchanan receiving for $200 also deposited the diplomas in the mail to be delivered to the spurious doctor in South Carolina. Special Postal Agent Barrett, Chief of Police Given, a deputy United States marshal and the newspaper man walked into Buchanan's place Wednesday afternoon, arrested him and then captured about half a ton of spurious diplomas, with a mass of correspondence, showing the traffic in diplomas and the sale of about 3,000 sleepskins. Hearings will be held and proceedings started by the Record through the attorney general to wipe out five of the colleges.
